

ABSTRACT

A projector in accordance with the invention includes a projection lens having a zoom function that forms a projected image corresponding to an image signal on a screen, a zoom state detection section that detects a zoom state of the projection lens, and an uneven color correction section that performs uneven color correction on the image signal based on a detected zoom state.